COOLIDGE RETURNS FROM HIS GREATEST RECEPTION

PRESIDENT EXPECTS TO SPEND TWO WEEKS WORKING AT CAPITAL

Will Then Go to New England for Balance of Vacation.

Enroute To Washington With President Coolidge, June 9.—President Coolidge, homeward bound from the greatest reception he ever received in his political career, was travelling eastward today towards Washington there to stay but two weeks before embarking on a summer vacation that will keep him in New England until after Labor Day.

During the twenty-seven hours that he stayed in the twin cities of Minnesota, where he featured the hundredth anniversary of the first Norwegian settlement in America, President Coolidge witnessed the largest turnout in his honor that he has ever experienced. Approximately sixty thousand people were jammed into the race track of the state fair grounds to hear his speech, every street of St. Paul and Minneapolis that he traversed was lined solidly with citizens of the northwest.

The Coolidge invasion of the wheat belt was a personal triumph in two ways. First he successfully demonstrated his popularity in that section of the country regarded as the LaFollette stronghold, and second, he wiped out the edium of his only other attempt to address the people of the twin cities.

In 1922 Mr. Coolidge, then vice president, visited Minnesota in behalf of the re-election of Senator Frank B. Kellogg, competing with an exhausting heat and the prospect of a horse race he was booted down and never completed his speech. Yesterday sixty thousand people jammed the fairground and, oblivious to a howling wind and an intermittent rain, cheered the president to the echo throughout a forty-five minute address.

On his way to the fairground, sixteen miles of streets were packed with flag-waving, enthusiastic citizens.

The presidential party is returning to Washington aboard the same Baltimore and Ohio special train that brought them out to St. Paul.

The same group is aboard. In addition to Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg, Senator Lenroot, (Republican of Wisconsin), Secretary to the President, Sanders and the military aid and physician, Colonel S. A. Cheney and Major J. F. Coupal.

Senator Lenroot left the train at Madison, Wis., at 7:20 this morning, where a brief operating stop was made.

The president and his guests boarded their train last night at 9:30 following a public reception in honor of Mr. Coolidge, staged at the state capitol at St. Paul. For an hour the president received personally all those who desired to meet him. It was estimated that 3,000 people filed through the line, with nearly 10,000 disappointed outside.

At Chicago this morning, shortly before noon, the presidential special will switch from the Chicago and Northwestern to the B. and O. railroad, on which the final stretch of the journey will be made.

DRAG WOMAN'S BODY FROM LICKING RIVER

Newark, O., June 9.—The body of an unknown woman, apparently 65 years old, was dragged from the waters of the North Fork of the Licking river here by N. Z. Snelling and A. Alje, two workmen employed to their work at the American Bottle Company this morning. The woman was clad only in a thin dress. There are no marks of violence, but Coroner Richards officially stated there is every reason to believe the woman was dead before her body entered the water, an effort being made to determine the extent of an abrasion in the back of the neck.

This, the coroner says, might develop foul play.

ELECTION OF M'CORD MAY DESTROY AKRON SCHOOLS IS BELIEF

Anti-Klan Members of Board Resign After Klansmen Win

Akron, O., June 9.—An impression seemed to prevail in Akron today that the election last night by the board of education of George McCord as superintendent of schools here, may result in a breakdown of the school system of Akron.

McCord is an avowed klansman and was chosen for his new position as such, and by klans members of the board, after a bitter fight. He was ousted as superintendent at Springfield, Ohio, after seven stormy years of office, during which he is said to have demonstrated himself to be a shrewd politician. But his alliances eventually resulted in his dismissal there, after, it is said, he created a great deal of discord in educational circles and elsewhere.

The vote for McCord stood four to three and immediately after his election "as announced, Mrs. C. W. Garrett, Mrs. A. Ross Read and H. T. Waller resigned from the board. They had fought consistently to keep the klans out of the school system.

Joseph B. Hazan, a member, made an address in which he defied anyone to prove that the klans had any influence in Akron school affairs, either with him or any others who stood back of McCord. He said Clyde Osborne, of Columbus, grand dragon of Ohio, had nothing to do with the decision of the Akron board, thus answering rumors to the contrary. Hazan is exalted cyclops of Summit County klansmen and was once mentioned for superintendent.

AMERICAN PILOTS RESCUED BY SHIP AND ARE NOT HURT

Three Entrants Still Unheard From In Bennett Cup Race

Brussels, Belgium, June 9.—With the remaining American entry reported down in the Atlantic off Brest and her crew safe, aboard the German freighter "Vaterland" and another French balloon safely landed at Anneville, France, word was waited hourly today from three remaining entrants in the Gordon Bennett Cup race.

Pilot Biensime and his aide, M. Ravaine brought their bag down without mishap at Anneville late Monday, according to word today.

Paris, June 9.—The two pilots of the American balloon "Goodyear" one of the two American entries in the international race from Brussels for the Gordon-Bennett cup were rescued by the German steamship "Vaterland," in the Atlantic off Brest, France, today, according to La Liberte.

The balloon was found floating in the water. The pilot, W. T. Van Orman and his aid C. K. Wellan, both of Akron, were none the worse for their experience, according to the newspaper. The news reached La Liberte in a wireless direct from the "Vaterland." This ship is not the reconditioned George Washington but a post war German freighter.

Brussels, Belgium, June 9.—Anxiety was beginning to develop today for the safety of the remaining three of the eighteen balloons which started from here Sunday afternoon in the international race for the Gordon-Bennett cup.

It is feared the balloons have been carried to sea. The Belgian Aero club, promoter of the race, was endeavoring to trace the balloons.

The pilots of the missing balloons are all noted for their courage. Members of the aero club said the pilots realized the greatest hazard was that their balloons might be blown out over the Atlantic ocean, but that they hoped a north air current would carry them to England.

If this expected north air current did not appear then, aero club officials said, there was a possibility one or more of the balloons might be forced to the water through lack of gas or ballast.

Days When Teachers Were Paid $1 A Week Recalled

Centenarian Tells of Hardships of Profession Twenty Years Before Civil War—Early Pupil Tells of Lizards In Schools.

Columbus, O. June 9.—Tales of the early days of Ohio when school teachers were paid a dollar a week, when settlers kept fires constantly burning outside their doors to keep the wolves away and which students begged at their doors for corn bread, are recounted by Mrs. Jane Williams, 102, oldest living Ohio school teacher, in a report today to the state education department, prepared by Mrs. Effie M. Wynn, of Kuhlshau.

When Mrs. Williams began teaching school in 1840, Martin van Buren was president of the United States, and the civil war was still two decades in the future. She obtained her first certificate at Zaleski, Vinton County when she was eighteen years old, he taught one term there in a little frame schoolhouse, four more in Hickocking County and another term in a log house in Burlington her home. Oiled paper was used for windows in the last schoolhouse. Mrs. Williams still feels she was unjustly treated because her mother kept the money she earned as a teacher. Reading arithmetic and geography were the principal studies taught.

Mrs. Williams' father, Nathaniel Fish, an immigrant from England, first settled in "York" state where he helped build what was probably the Erie canal, and then settled at Burlington, Meigs County. Her mother, she said, was used to drive a wagon alone twice a year to Marietta for flour and once rode horseback to New York state to make settlement on property her husband owned there.

Other tales of early Ohio school days were recounted in the latest issue of the "Better Schools Bulletin" by Mrs. Sara C. Stump of Beloit, who attended school nearly seventy years ago in a log school house within a mile of her present home. The land had not been cleared and trails to and from the school, had been blazed to guide the pupils. The country was infested with snakes, she said, and often lizards

CHINESE THROW MUD AT U. S. SAILORS

Shanghai, June 9.—Mobs of Chinese threw mud today at American blue-jackets stationed at the border settlement to guard foreigners from overt acts by the Chinese on general strike against all foreigners.

Chinese constabulary intervened and drove off the Chinese before the Americans were forced to take action. Ten British river and coast steamers failed to sail last night and this morning because of a walkout of members of the Chinese Seamen's union. The union threatens to call out enough men to tie up all shipping including trans-Pacific and European liners.

Strike agitators are directing their strongest efforts against Japanese and British subjects in an attempt to affect a nationwide boycott of all Japanese and British goods.

DEATH TOLL REACHES EIGHT IN KENTUCKY EXPLOSION TRAGEDY

Unable to Identify Bodies of Six Colored Blast Victims

Sturgis, Ky., June 9.—With the finding of three more bodies early today, the death toll of the explosion—wrecked mine of the Western Kentucky Coal Company increased to eight. Five bodies were discovered late last night. Two white men were identified as William Thomas and Geo. Richardson. The bodies of six negroes were so badly burned and lacerated, identification was impossible.

Nine miners are yet entombed in the mine and little or no hope is held for bringing them out alive.

Entrances numbers three and four were completely wrecked by an explosion of undetermined origin yesterday, burying 21 miners. Six men who were working near the surface were taken out, uninjured while their less fortunate fellow miners at the 500 foot level were imprisoned in a blazing inferno.

The rescue crews are directed by Neil McCann, a veteran of the explosion of eight years ago which wrecked the same mine of the West Kentucky Company and cost sixty two lives.

This belief is based on statements by members of the Amundsen expedition still at Spitzbergen, who said Amundsen told them that if he did not return by aeroplane within fourteen days, or was forced to descend, he would make his way to Cape Columbia.

PARK BOARD WANTS PLEDGES PAID TO AID COMPLETION

In view of the advanced state of development of the lagoon at the new park of the Xenia Recreation Association in the Dodds Addition, it was the consensus of opinion at a meeting of the officers and board of directors of the organization Monday noon at the City Hall that steps should be taken for the collection of funds pledged in the recent financial drive to aid in the development.

Approximately $1,400 pledged in the drive remains unpaid and its collection will stimulate work at the park and enable preliminary work to be completed, it is believed. Between $500 and $600 has been pledged from other sources which will also be available to help finance work in the tract, it is said.

Work on the lagoon has been progressing rapidly with the existing funds and with the aid of additional pledges which will be collected, the lagoon is expected to take definite form this summer.

Preliminary development work has been concentrated on the lagoon which will be the foundation and beauty spot of the park.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE SEAT (1895)

$33,000

EXCHANGE SEAT
(1925)

$108,000

WHY? 1925

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange sold for $108,000 recently. Thirty years ago the high record was $33,000. Why should the price triple?

The New York Stock Exchange still has the same number of members that it had thirty years ago, namely 1,100, yet in the last twenty years the number of securities traded in on the exchange has multiplied about three times over, and the value of those securities, which now stands at about $6,000,000,000 has doubled.

None but these 1,100 members can actually execute buying and selling orders on the exchange. From the above figures it is evident that the demand for their service must have increased about threefold. In that case the income from commissions should increase proportionally too, which of course is the main reason for the threefold advance of the price of seats.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c.

THE SOLUTION SOUGHT

THE increase in the number of juvenile offenders is a condition which is causing much concern. The situation has been ascribed to the decline in moral and religious teaching in the home. In order to supply through outside influences what should be the work of the parents, or guardians, various suggestions have been put into practice. In some places a portion of the school day has been taken in order that pupils might have instruction in the faith to which they incline. Yet, the adoption of this plan would not prevent the inculcation of moral principles as a part of the school curriculum. It is the moral code common to all religions against which the juveniles offend.

If the premise on which the deduction is based is correct, and parents are failing to train their children to walk in the paths of probity, can the school, or the church, entirely supply all that is needed? The principles which govern a child's life and, later the adult life, are inculcated at the mother's knee. If the mother fails in her duty and the father does not provide both precept and example, a burden is thrown on the school and the church that is more than either ought to bear. The church and the school ought to supplement the home teaching, but it is too much to expect these to supply what should be the home work.

If the numbers of juvenile offenders are chargeable to the failures of parents the parents need to be taught along with the children. This presents a difficult problem, one for which a solution may not be reached. Yet, without parents of the right kind how can it be hoped to have children become an honor? The question is not wholly one of religion, though that enters. It is chiefly one of ethics. If youth can be shown that any course other than the right is unprofitable, doing right because it is right may follow as the course of action.

Turning boys and girls of this generation toward the right may not materially better the parents of this generation but the achievement would provide more good parents for the next generation. How this end is to be gained is the question that is being asked and for which a solution is sought.

A MATTER OF COURTESY

THE present lack of good manners in motoring calls for a code of ethics to be observed by automobile drivers, is the belief of the Connecticut Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Want of courtesy may be in evidence on the part of some drivers, but, if so, it is not because they are driving motor cars. They are exemplifying their natural dispositions. One who is imbued with regard for the rights and comforts of others does not need a written code of ethics. Another who would be benefited by some instruction is likely to be reluctant to accept the precepts.

There are those who in their actions are governed only by the judgment of what they may be "able to get away with" but this attitude is by no means confined to motor car drivers. It is said that greater courtesy would do much to prevent accidents. It would, doubtless, but how to enforce courtesy is the problem. It is contended that the way one drives provides a medium of expression of one's personality. The way one on foot shoves his way through the crowd speaks not less forcibly.

A good driver is defined as one with altruistic instincts, ready to see and appreciate the problems of others, to make proper allowance for them and to exercise a little more patience, care and consideration than is actually called for. If one is actuated by these motives and exemplifies them one will be a manly man—or womanly woman—even though not an automobile driver.

The Connecticut vehicle commissioner is concerned with motor car drivers but what he really asks is that men be gentlemen and if they are that there will be no need of a code of ethics when they drive out on the road. They will practice the code instinctively. If some have no sense of courtesy it would be difficult to enforce a code even though it be written. Such would incline to disregard it, when it could be done safely and with some promise of profit or amusement.

JUST FOLKS

LIFE'S ALL
A little patch of sunshine,
And a little patch of blue,
The songbirds gayly singing,
A lit for me and you;
The sound of childish laughter
Near many a happy door,
Here's all that makes for gladness,
The world can give no more.
A few bright blossoms nodding
To greet the morning sun,
A task that will reward us
With pride when it is done;
A friend or two to follow
Our fortunes, good or ill,
No more than this we'll harvest
However the purse we fill,
The trust of those who know us,
The love of all our own,
A night of rest unbroken,
No cross to bear alone,
The strength for tasks before us,
High faith when sorrows fall;
No more the world can give us,

With these we have it all,
So guard the home you cherish
And love your patch of ground.
Keep faith with all who trust you
For when life's depths you sound,
You'll find that peace at evening,
However long you live,
And love of friends and neighbors
Is all that life can give.

A. E.: "How shall I clean a wool flannel dress—just wash it in soap chips?"

Answer: Wash it in a basin of gas oil, out of doors, not ear heat or flame, as gasoline is extremely inflammable. Souse it up and down, of course using no soap, then rinse in another basin of clean gasoline and hang on line for several days, till the odor is evaporated. Press. There will be no shrinkage if done in this way.

Mrs. T. L. B.: I wonder if you or any of your readers can give me a recipe for fish cooked in the Italian style and called "Cioppino"?

Answer: I do not happen to have this recipe, but perhaps some kind reader who has, will write it on a postcard and mail it to me in care of this paper for publication?

Married Two Years: "Last spring I put down eggs in water glass, but when I came to take them out, months later, and tried to boil them for breakfast I found they generally broke. Why? And can it be avoided?" My husband likes them boiled just of all ways.

Answer: You should have pricked each egg with a pin or needle in the large end before putting it in the hot water to boil. For the pores of the shell are sealed by the preserving solution and the egg will therefore crack unless pricked.

E. B.: "What will keep patent leather shoes from cracking?"

Answer: Keep them in a fairly warm place, and oil them occasionally or rub a little white vaseline on the surface. For patent leather, like all leathers, needs oiling now and then to keep it pliant.

Mrs. H.: "Can varnish and paint remover be made at home?"

Answer: Home Made Varnish and Paint Remover: Ordinary washing soda is an excellent remover; dissolve one pound of it in from five to six quarts of boiling water and apply. Or you can use potash instead if you wish as follows: Dissolve one pound of potash in six quarts of cold water and apply. Ammonia, in full strength, is another paint and varnish remover. Always

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait until today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., R. A. 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

MOTHERS OF DAUGHTERS

Will Profit by Reading Mrs. Quigg's Letter Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Daughter

Royersford, Pa.—"My daughter was sickly from the time she was 13 years old, and when she was 15 she was irregular and also had severe head aches and pains in her sides and back. She was this way about six months before I began giving her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly, although she had tried it before. It helped her very much. She is not bothered by headaches, or cramping any more, and has not missed but one day. We recommend it to other mothers with girls who have these troubles."—Mrs. QUIGG, 210 Main St., Royersford, Pa.

Another Mother's Letter
Roxbury, Mass.—"At the age of 16 my daughter was all run down, nervous, with poor blood. These troubles made her weak and unfit to work. She tried several medicines, but they did her no good. Finally I induced her to take the Vegetable Compound, too, and she has gained in health and strength and is now working steadily. I have told these facts to many mothers, and I hope this letter will reach many more."—Mrs. HUNSON, 252 Eustis Street, Roxbury, Mass.

CHRISTIAN STYLE

For 2,000 years Jesus has remained Jesus. That is the conclusion to which I have come. And, of course, it is obvious anyway.

But when I read of the bitter words hurled toward lovely characters who take opposite views to those believed by someone else, I am saddened at the distance traveled away from the Gentle Teacher whose sum total of religion has lived throughout the ages, borne by but two words—love and service.

When you try to put Jesus in "style" you lose Him.

Jesus never played up to anyone. He played right into people. He gave and gave—and then He gave again.

The common people heard Him gladly because they were not encumbered with gaudiness or style or up-to-date-ness. They were thirsty, hungry, and lonely for the sunlight of beauty and happiness in their hearts—so they sought Him out, ministered unto Him and gladly served.

The sweetness and beauty of character that was Jesus' will never run out of style any more than will the rays of the sun or the breath of the flowers.

What did Jesus care about "the past" of anybody's life? In His own words, He said that He came to "seek and to save that which was lost". In other words He said that the well needed no physician. As a shepherd He would hunt all night for the sheep that had lost its way.

The one religion that Jesus started of love and service is and always will be big enough for the greatest problems of life.

When you complicate love and service you destroy their worth and influence.

If Jesus was sad I do not believe He was sad because of Himself or of the fate that He knew awaited Him at the cross, but because there were so many all about Him who doubted and who failed to understand.

It is refreshing to feel in this age of combat and irreligion, that the calm and peaceful figure of Jesus of Nazareth grows greatest in inspiration and helpfulness as the world seeks to doubt Him most.

And it must always be remembered that it takes heart, not mind, to come to a full realization of His value in sweetness and fineness in all the affairs of daily life.

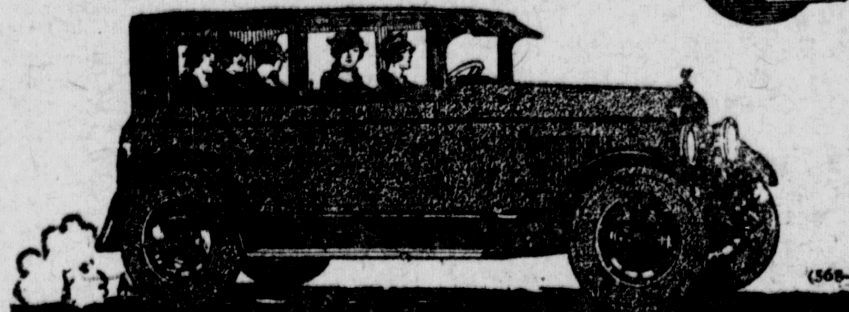

Just think of Jesus and the thing He stood for—love and service—and you have enough to guide you on and up.

MODISH MITZI—The Preliminaries To A Successful Wedding By JAY V. JAY

This is going to be a rehearsal of the gown—not the ceremony. Marian has selected Mitzi and Polly her dearest friends and severest critics, to view her wedding gown at its final fitting. Mitzi wears a coat with the posillion cape outlined with stitchery—

very smart. Marian wears a black satin dress in the new bolero effect. The skirt is very full in back and has a tie sash. Polly who is lingering in the rear wears a very charming little hat of straw and velvet combined.

Madame Celeste, the very capable modiste, who understands brides, wedding gowns and the most obscure points of the mode is gesticulating in admiration. The lace, so delicate, so rich must be the only trimming. It hangs from the shoulder and is caught at the waist with a pearl cabochon.

"And the veil, regard the veil," ripples on Madame. "It is so soft, so simple, with but a single hair of two showing." That is the way it should be. Mitzi and Polly, still the dearest friends and most severe of fashion critics, agree with her—right to the last orange blossom.

OSBORN ADDRESSES KLANSMEN AT MEET AT TEMPLE MONDAY

Between 1,000 and 1,200 members of the Ku Klux Klan in Greene County and surrounding counties attended a meeting at the Klan Tabernacle, East Third Street Monday night and heard Clyde W. Osborn, Columbus grand dragon of the Ohio order, deliver a talk.

That the "public must realize that the America of tomorrow can be no stronger or finer than the moral fibre of the American of tomorrow and to that end the Klan stands against those influences that tend to debauch the minds and morals of the youth of today," was the central thought expressed by Osborn in his address.

"The commercialism of evil in America must be stopped and the moral standards of our forefathers must be restored," declared the speaker. "We are a militant organization that stands against the standard breaker. There is no hatred in our hearts against Catholics, Jews and Negroes, however, we stand for Protestant ideals."

"We ask quality rather than quantity in membership," said Osborn. "Some of the methods of the past are however, to be frowned upon," he admitted.

The more than 1,000 members of the order who attended the meeting were principally from Greene County although visiting delegations from other cities were present. A down-pour of rain during the afternoon kept the attendance down.

Osborn was accompanied to Xenia by J. H. Downs, of Columbus, his chief representative who is on his official staff.

J. A. Downey, of Piqua, great titan and head of Province No. 6, headed the Piqua delegation and gave a short talk during the program. The program included music by the Klan band and singing by a quartet.

BELLEFONTAINE TO PLAY XENIA GOLFERS

Golfers of the Xenia Country Club will play hosts to representatives of the Bellefontaine Golf Club in a Dayton District Golf Association match over the local course one day this week.

Final arrangements for the match have not been completed and it is not certain whether the match will be played on the usual afternoon, Wednesday, or later in the week.

Xenia has won three points out of a possible twelve in association matches so far this season with more experienced Dayton clubs as opponents, but is expected to take four markers from its Bellefontaine opponents and climb to a higher position in the league.

The four local golfers who will represent the local club in each division of play, will be named at a later date, it is announced.

GUARANTORS FOR CHAUTAUQUA MEET

Chautauqua guarantors will meet at the City Hall Friday evening, it was announced Tuesday by the Rev. W. H. Telford, who is urging all to be present.

Paul J. Harris, representative of the Redpath Chautauqua will be present at the meeting and confer with the guarantors on further plans.

The Chautauqua will be held in Xenia, beginning Sunday, July 12, and continue through Saturday evening of that week. It is probable that the tent will be pitched in the land owned by P. H. Flynn, along Detroit Boulevard. A union church meeting will be held the first Sunday evening.

FIND LIQUOR

Two cases of home brew were confiscated by authorities in a raid on the residence of Pete Pratt, West Main Street, Saturday night. Pratt was arrested and will be probably arraigned either Tuesday or Wednesday on a charge of possessing liquor. He was released under $500 bond.

Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, Patrolman Charles Thompson and John Powell, a state prohibition officer, comprised the raiding party.

SERVICE ARRANGED

Funeral services for Martin Horlick, formerly of Xenia, who died Sunday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Dayton, will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at Corpus Christi Church, Dayton. Interment will be in St. Brigid's Cemetery here.

FINGERPRINTING IS EXPLAINED TO CLUB MEETING BY EXPERT

R. I. Miles, for fourteen years superintendent of the Bureau of Identification of the Ohio State Prison, and now connected with the National Detective Bureau at Columbus, addressed the Xenia Rotary Club, Tuesday noon at the Elks' Lodge, on "The Value of Fingerprints."

He explained the different classifications of fingerprints and told how photographs of the prints are made and their records kept. All the prints are filed in Washington, D. C., and it takes on an average of six minutes to locate a print for comparison. Two fingerprints, exactly alike, have never been found, he said, and as high as eighty characteristics in one fingerprint have been found.

Mr. Miles said: "Since the fact has been established that there are no two other human beings exactly alike and no change from birth to death except in their external appearance from growth or decay in their natural lifetime, is sufficient proof that the identification cannot be questioned."

"If a crime has been committed there is no way of establishing the guilt or the identity of the guilty party or parties other than the fingerprint system, except he is detected in the act or found with stolen loot in his possession. When a crime is committed, the criminal in most cases leaves his fingerprints on some object, such as wood, metal, or glass. As the human body is constantly excreting a moisture, commonly called perspiration, through the glands or pores of the cuticle, this is of the appearance of oil when closely observed on the subject where found."

"These impressions can be photographed after they have been dusted with a powder used for the purpose, the particular color, white black, or gray, the most suitable being used to produce a contrast for the camera, after which they can be developed and search of files made."

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Davis are planning to leave Wednesday morning for Oberlin, O., to attend the ninety-second annual commencement exercises of the college. The commencement play will be given Thursday evening, in which their daughter, Miss Margaret, has the leading role. The commencement exercises and conferring of degrees will take place Monday, June 15.

Girls Fail as Crusoes

HAZEL CARR and MINNIE EDMONDSON

After making a wager that they could stay on an uninhabited island for a week, subsisting on tropical fruits, Hazel Carr and Minnie Edmondson, of Miami, remained only two days. Their excuse was that they had forgotten their vanity cases and just couldn't be without them.

The commencement play will be given Thursday evening, in which their daughter, Miss Margaret, has the leading role. The commencement exercises and conferring of degrees will take place Monday, June 15.

The Hon. Newton D. Baker, L. L. D., former secretary of war, will deliver the class address Miss Davis will be graduated from the College of Arts and Sciences.

CROWDS VISIT POOL AT OPENING MONDAY

The heavy storm that noticeably cooled the atmosphere Monday afternoon, did not dampen the spirits of hundreds of bathers who spent the evening at the new Wilson Swimming Pool, West Church Street.

The intense humidity of the past several days caused the plan for the opening of the pool to be changed from Wednesday to Monday and the invitation was accepted by a large crowd of bathers.

Between 300 and 400 bathers were in the pool between 7 o'clock and the hour of closing. Besides the large number of swimmers, crowds of bystanders watched the water sports during the evening.

Preceding the storm in the afternoon, a large number of bathers cavorted in the pool. Grandstands for on-lookers and the refreshment stand close by are other attractive features of the pool.

The formal program previously announced for the opening of the pool will be carried out Wednesday.

ROTARY WILL VISIT SHAWANOEE PARK

The Xenia Rotary Club will hold an informal meeting in the new city park, in the Dodds Addition, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. All Rotarians are urged to be present.

The meeting was decided on at an informal discussion following the luncheon and program of the weekly meeting at the Elks' Lodge, Tuesday noon. Park officials will tell of the work that has been done at the park the past few months. Committees from the Rotary Club will be appointed to assist in financing the work planned for the summer. Club members with automobiles may drive around the park site.

MINERS KILLED

Tokio, June 9.—Ten miners are reported dead, following an explosion in a coal mine in Moshiri, Hokkaido prefecture, according to advices here today. Hokkaido prefecture is on Yezo Island, north of the main island of Nippon.

SUNDAY CLOSING IS BACK AT STANDSTILL

The Sunday closing law controversy was back again in its accustomed position Tuesday—at a standstill.

Prosecutor J. C. Marshall received a list of business houses in Xenia and Greene County who openly violated the Sunday closing law from Attorney F. L. Johnson with a veiled demand for prosecution but refused to deviate from his reticent attitude Tuesday and say whether he would prosecute on the information he has received.

The prosecutor had no comment whatever to make.

Attorney Johnson, who is making efforts on behalf of certain clients to have the Sunday closing law enforced in Greene County, declared Tuesday "there is nothing new," and gave no indication what the next move in the war will be.

FORMER XENIAN'S BRIDE OF COMING WEEK FETED

Miss Jane Hardie, West Milton, whose marriage to Mr. Fred D. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Reynolds, Dayton, formerly of this city, will take place Wednesday, June 17, will be feted at number of affairs the coming week.

Mrs. Howard Webster, Dayton, aunt of the bride-elect, will entertain a group of Miss Hardie's friends at a bridge party at her home on Superior Avenue, June 12.

Miss Virginia Nan Byrne of Forest Avenue, Dayton, is arranging a party for Monday, June 15, and the Misses Margaret Pooch and Janet Flynn, former schoolmates of Miss Hardie will have a bride-party at the home of Miss Pooch, on Grafton Avenue, Dayton, Saturday, June 13.

The wedding ceremony will be performed at 7 o'clock in the garden at the home of the bride's parents, in West Milton, with the Rev. Hugh Ivan Evans of Dayton, officiating.

Raymond Gillaugh, graduate of Central High School with the class of 1925, and a former Gazette carrier has entered the Miami-Jackson Business College at Dayton, O.

South Side W. C. T. U., will meet Friday afternoon, June 12 at 1 o'clock, slow time at the home of Mrs. John Fudge on the Union Road. The meeting was to have been held Thursday and members are asked to note the change of day.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander left Monday for Chicago to join her mother, Mrs. Leon Spahr, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brush. Mrs. Spahr left a week ago, going to Toledo, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall, before going to Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. John E. Wishart, of San Anselmo, Calif., have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. B. R. McClellan, South Detroit Street. Dr. Wishart, who was formerly connected with the Xenia Seminary, when it was located in Xenia, has gone on to Pittsburgh to fill the pulpit of his brother, Dr. W. L. Wishart, who is abroad. Mrs. Wishart will remain here for an indefinite time, visiting Greene County relatives.

ADAIR'S Good Taste Without Extravagance

is the keynote of the phenomenal success of our big furniture store. Our low prices have attracted customers from the surrounding cities. We now depend for our success on out of town business as much as on local trade. The explanation is that our expenses are extremely low and having been in the furniture business for the past 40 years we know where to buy furniture of good taste and construction and at the same time reasonable in price.

GOOD WILL DEFINITE ASSET BABSON SAYS DISCUSSING BRANDS

Babson Park, Mass., June 9, 1925.—In view of the controversy which has arisen over the value of good will in connection with the sale of Dodge Brothers, Roger W. Babson has been asked his opinion on the subject. Mr. Babson has felt that this was largely a fight between definite Wall Street factions and has endeavored to keep out of it, but he today consented to give his opinion on the general subject of trade mark and good will values. Mr. Babson's statement is as follows:

"Many people wonder how it is that American Sugar stocks can be going down while American Tobacco stocks are climbing upward. At first thought this seems to be a paradox. Both companies are well established and both are handling an article of general consumption, and, if anything, sugar is certainly more of a necessity than tobacco. Both are the largest producers in their respective fields; therefore, at first sight, there seems no logical reason for sugar stocks to be tumbling while tobacco stocks are climbing upward. There is, however, a fundamental difference between these two securities. Sugar is bought in bulk by the pound without reference as to who manufactures it while tobacco is bought in cans and packages and bought by the brand. That is to say, the sugar business is a non-brand business and the tobacco business is a brand business, and from the keen investor's point of view there is as much difference between the two as between night and day. When anyone buys sugar he simply asks for 'sugar' and pays no attention to the brand. But when one asks for tobacco he calls for some specific brand. Doubtless the sugar people see this difference and hence are endeavoring to establish trade names for cube and powdered sugars.

"I do not wish to get involved one way or another in the merits of the Dodge Brothers sale. It would be wrong for me or anyone else, to give an opinion on a specific case like this without a thorough knowledge of all the circumstances. My hunch is that Dodge Brothers securities will sell for less before they reach their natural level. But I do believe that their good will, to which the Michigan authorities have taken exception, is a very valuable asset. Furthermore I believe that bankers who are criticizing the Dodge Brothers securities would far rather, at the same price, have the name and good will without any real estate, buildings, machinery, or other tangible assets, than to have all these tangible assets without the name and good will. Brands, trade marks, and good will are the most valuable kinds of assets. The difficulty with them is that their value can be more easily destroyed than the value of tangible property. The concern which has the most valuable brands is like a man carrying a pan of molten gold over a rough mountain pass; with the least tipping of the pan one way or the other some of the gold is apt to run out, and if he should stumble all would be lost. It is an old saying that 'the higher up in the tree a bird builds her nest the easier it is for the nest to be robbed.' Hence, the most valuable brands must be protected most carefully, both from outside pirates and from short-sighted men in the management who are neglecting the quality or reducing advertising appropriations simply to secure immediate profits. I cannot speak too highly of the value of trade marks, brands, and other forms of good will but I must at the same time say that they can be very easily ruined.

"Farmers often wonder why it is that their sale of oats will be declining while the sale of 'Quaker Oats' in boxes will be increasing. Certain oil companies which sell only crude oil are today in financial difficulties while other oil companies which have valuable brands are still doing a fine business. Shredded Wheat sells just the same whatever the wheat market; Poland water is always in demand whether it is raining or shining; and Ivory soap is still being used by the great grandchildren of mothers who bought it when it first began to advertise. All of this means that brands and trade marks, when properly developed and protected seem to prosper irrespective of business conditions, variations in customs, and even changes in management. Brands outlive the lives of their founders, and when properly cared for are like rivers that run on forever. Once I was called to Washington in connection with a trust investigation. The Government was endeavoring to break up a great monopoly depending, not upon trade agreements, but rather on a brand which was a household word in every community. Because of this the Government was powerless to touch them. I returned to advise my clients to spend their money on national advertising which would build up a monopoly which no government could touch rather than spend it upon lawyers to create a structure which any politician could break down. "I don't want these comments to be interpreted as a defense of the Dodge Brothers transaction, but I do wish to impress upon every business man especially the manufacturer and jobber the necessity and importance of protecting brands, trade marks and the like. However small a manufacturer may be it is very important that he should have some brand or trade mark which can be used on all his advertising, letter heads, bill heads and everything else which he puts out. I also wish to impress upon local bankers that they give more attention to the value of good will in connection with granting credit to manufacturers and merchants. I therefore urge investors not to give all their weight to good will, or all their weight to tangible assets, but to intelligently weigh both. This is especially important in days like these when business is wavering along the middle path and the Babsonchart registers 2 per cent below normal.

LIFE SAVING EXPERT OF AMERICAN RED CROSS GIVES SWIMMING POINTS

Editor's Note—This is the fifth of the series of twelve articles which aim toward lessening water fatalities during the swimming period. The sixth will appear soon.

LESSON FIVE
FINDING DROWNED PERSON QUICKLY ESSENTIAL
By Commodore W. E. Longfellow
Life Saving Expert, American Red Cross

(Written for I. N. S.)
There is a marked reluctance on the part of the ordinary swimmers to dive for the body of a person just gone to the bottom. There is a vague sort of superstition against touching a dead person or a fear that he may grip the rescuer.

Much effort of divers is wasted because they go about it half-heartedly. Another factor working against effective recovery by surface diving is the difficulty most swimmers, unless they have specialized in this type of rescue have in going more than six feet below the surface.

We will start with the knowledge that a drowned person is harmless after being under a couple of minutes especially if he has used up his strength fighting to stay up. Quick action is necessary.

ESTIMATE TIDE
First secure a range on shore objects on a line with the place where the drowning person was last seen and estimate the drift of the tide and current. When the water is less than twenty feet deep there is a chance of rescue. Every swimmer should perfect himself in surface diving. A good swimming start on the surface of the water is helpful in descending to a considerable depth.

Take a few breast strokes to reach the spot where the person is thought to be, then tuck the chin close to the chest as you sweep the hands in a circular motion from the front to a position alongside the hips, with hands palm down in the water. By pushing down in the water, first bending the body and then straightening it, as in the jackknife dive, keeping the legs straight and together, the weight of the legs in the air will force the head and body straight toward bottom.

SHORT BREAST STROKES.

Keep the chin against the chest while you continue downward. The moment you throw the head back the body will commence to ascend. The head acting like the diving rudder of a submarine. Take short breast strokes with the arms until the bottom is reached, then grasp, with both hands, the person to be recovered, plant both feet on the bottom and push off. You will come up easily. The body can be carried easily on the upper hip in the side stroke.

If you spend your vacation in a place where the water averages 12 feet or more in depth, see that proper grasping up a body the first cast after place where they can be used in recovering a body in time for resuscitation. So much time can be wasted in fruitless attempts to get to bottom. Oftentimes the grappling hooks will bring up a body he first cast after divers have tried for hours to locate it. A full description of how to make a grappling hook can be found in Red Cross pamphlet No. 100 procurable from any Red Cross chapter office. There is comparatively little danger that the hook will hurt the body sufficiently to prevent effective resuscitation.

Charlie Ross?

DANIEL PETERS.

Daniel Peters, a farmer of Longtown, Pa., is convinced, he has told authorities, that he is Charles Brewster Ross, whose mysterious kidnapping in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1874 proved to be one of the most sensational crimes of history. Interest in the kidnapping is still alive, after fifty years, throughout the world. Peters bases his claim upon the deathbed confession to him of the woman he had believed was his mother.

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY"

BY MACK SAUER

Well, S. O. Haje, who once upon a time taught the Bellbrook school stopped at the Hammer Club yesterday for a time and arithmetic came up for discussion. Do you remember some of these old ones?

1. A man's beard grows 1-4 of an inch a day. Growing at that rate, how long will it be before his beard reaches from Xenia to San Francisco? What will it be worth at three cents a pound?

2. A man went to jail to visit a prisoner. When asked if he was a relative of the prisoner, he replied: "Brothers and sisters have I none, but this man's father is my father's son." What relation was he to the prisoner?

3. If there are three miles in one league, how many feet are there in an Epworth League? If there are six feet in a fathom, how many fathoms are there to a thousand legged worm?

4. A young man was driving his father's car over the Dayton pike at 60 miles per hour. A train was coming down the line at the rate of 70 miles per hour. They met. When will the funeral be held?

5. A man with a fox a goose and some corn wishes to cross the river at Oldtown. He can only take one of the articles at once. If he takes the fox, the goose will eat the corn, while he is gone. If he takes the corn, the fox will eat the goose. If he takes the goose, the next trip will mean disaster for either the corn or the goose. How does he get away with it?

6. John Jones divides his estate equally among two sons and three daughters, the latter sharing equally with each other. The younger son receives three shares of DOLLINGS stock, the other son gets a safety razor, and the daughters each get a book of orations by William Jennings Bryan on evolution. What is the value of the estate? Answer-0.

Two days later a similar function will be held in Cleveland for the northern division and on June 13, telephone employees of the western division will meet in Toledo.

Employees who attended the celebration in Columbus Tuesday from Greene County are Miss Irene Haws of Yellow Springs and Miss Bertha Gardner, Charles Cross and H. W. Cleaver of Xenia.

CITY BUYS TRACT OF LAND NEAR OLD TOWN TO PROTECT WATER

The city of Xenia, through the City Commission, has completed the purchase of a fraction of an acre of land on the west side of the Xenia and Springfield Pike near Old Town from John DeWine, president of The DeWine Milling Company, for a consideration of $1,100. It is announced.

The purchase gives the city a narrow strip of land extending along Massies Creek and the old mill stream bordering the holdings of the city near Old Town.

The City Commission authorized the purchase of the small strip of land for better protection of the levees, walls and grounds, the site of the city waterworks, against possible floods and damage by water.

The transaction includes the taking over of a cottage which was erected on the tract, and which may be remodeled and made over into a cottage for the engineer in the future.

Mr. DeWine still retains the site of the old company plant which recently was destroyed by fire and a large tract of land adjoining to the north, which may be used as a site of a large summer resort and recreational center, it is said.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenbu to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed Schn's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to dispense Allenbu with the understanding that if his prescription does not banish every sign and symptom of the disease he will gladly return your money without comment. BRINGING UP FATHER

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXIV

Aunt Mary appeared to sympathize with Michael and Lilah. She looked upon Lilah's mother as an intruder in the honeymoon, but not herself.

"These mothers-in-law!" she exclaimed to Michael, flinging her hands up in the air, while Lilah was in the house preparing to go to the station with them to meet mother Pharely. "You can thank your stars that you only have one. Think of the poor Turks, who have harems, and how they are burdened with mothers-in-law. Fifty wives, fifty mothers-in-law!"

To Michael there was something intoxicating about Aunt Mary; he was ever delighted with her. He tried to imagine what Mr. Owingsby must have been like, and he wondered what sort of daughters Aunt Mary would have had if she had been blessed, or plagued, with any. He decided she herself would have been an ideal type of mother-in-law. He watched the meeting between Aunt Mary and Lilah's mother.

Mother Pharely gushed over him as if he were a long lost child. "Why, Michael, how well you are looking! How are you? I'll bet have been taking good care of my you two have been having a perfectly wonderful time. I know you baby."

As they drove over the long route from the railway station to Beverly Hills, he could hear Lilah and her mother, who occupied the back seat, whispering.

Michael's hope that Aunt Mary would not mention her offer to him before Mother Pharely was blasted that evening at dinner.

"Why I think that would be perfectly lovely," the latter cried, when she heard about it. "Why, it's almost too good to be true! And what are you two going to do about it, daughter?"

Michael bit his lips as Mother Pharely directed the question to Lilah.

"Such things are up to Michael, mother. You should know that," But there was tomorrow.

Aunt Mary coolly regarded mother and daughter, and a light of understanding came into her eyes.

"How about it, Michael?" Mother Pharely pressed.

"I haven't decided," he said firmly. "However, I don't believe it will be convenient for me to accept, however much I would like to."

"Well, that's too bad. It would be splendid for you two children. It's up to them, Martha." Mrs. Pharely turned her eyes sharply upon her sister-in-law. She hated to be called Martha.

"It's too bad father couldn't come," Lilah observed, hoping to shift the conversation into other channels.

"I tried to get him to come," her mother explained, "but he wouldn't. He's looking up some old friends of his in Sacramento. Besides," she laughed, "he told me I was an old fool to butt in on you two."

Aunt Mary smiled at her brother's wife's brazenness, then regarded her youthful guests with sympathy. She decided to rid them of Mother Pharely's presence for one evening, anyway.

"There's an old friend of yours here that I know you will be glad to see," she said, addressing herself to the older woman, "Jessie Golden."

"Jessie Golden! Is she out here? Well, well! Yes, I would like to see Jessie. Perhaps Lilah would like to see Mrs. Golden, too. You remember Mrs. Golden, don't you, Lilah? He used to think you were such a pretty little girl when you were small. She gave you the big waxen doll, you remember."

Lilah restrained even the slightest display of interest. "Aw, these young ones don't care anything about such old hens as Jessie Golden. We'll go see her. You run along, children. Shoo!"

Thus she delivered them from Mother Pharely for the evening. But there was tomorrow.

AUDITOR WILL NOT OBJECT TO ISSUING AUTO LICENSE TAGS

R. O. Wead, auditor of Greene County, says the county will comply with the Lipp act, passed by the General Assembly, providing for the distribution of motor car license tags from the county auditor's office.

Many auditors have indicated a disposition to refuse to issue the tags, one even going so far as to advise the secretary of state to that effect.

Auditor Wead said however that he would notify Thad H. Brown, secretary of state that assistance in issuing the tags in Greene County would be necessary and seek authorization for the appointment of a number of deputies to aid the auditor's office over the county.

A fee of fifteen cents is allotted the county for each set of tags distributed but this amount would go to the deputies who aid in the distribution as well as the county to cover expenses.

The county auditor's office will commence the distribution of the 1925 tags in July taking over the duties of the Greene County Automobile Club, which heretofore issued the plates. The auto club may continue, however, to distribute some of the tags, it was pointed out by Auditor Wead.

JUDGMENT IN NOTE CASE IS AFFIRMED

A Common Pleas Court verdict awarding Duff Stewart $150 alleged due on a promissory note against Charles Zimmer and others, has been affirmed in the Court of Appeals.

Stewart brought action in Justice of the Peace Court against Zimmer for $175 alleged due on a promissory note. The defendants in the lower court filed an answer and cross petition claiming that the note sued on was given as a consideration for a span of mules purchased at public auction. The counter-claim or cross petition set out certain misrepresentations as to the mules claiming damages for $250.

Stewart obtained a magistrate's verdict for $150 which was affirmed in Common Pleas Court.

AKRON BALLOON ENTRY LIGHTS IN SEA

COOLIDGE RETURNS FROM HIS GREATEST RECEPTION

PRESIDENT EXPECTS TO SPEND TWO WEEKS WORKING AT CAPITAL

Will Then Go to New England for Balance of Vacation.

Enroute to Washington With President Coolidge, June 9.—President Coolidge, homeward bound from the greatest reception he ever received in his political career, was travelling eastward today towards Washington there to stay but two weeks before embarking on a summer vacation that will keep him in New England until after Labor Day.

During the twenty-seven hours that he stayed in the twin cities of Minnesota, where he featured the hundredth anniversary of the first Norwegian settlement in America, President Coolidge witnessed the largest turnout in his honor that he has ever experienced. Approximately sixty thousand people were jammed into the race track of the state fair grounds to hear his speech, every street of St. Paul and Minneapolis that he traversed was lined solidly with citizens of the northwest.

The Coolidge invasion of the wheat belt was a personal triumph in two ways. First he successfully demonstrated his popularity in that section of the country regarded as a LaFollette stronghold, and second, he wiped out the odium of his only other attempt to address the people of the twin cities.

In 1923 Mr. Coolidge, then vice president, visited Minnesota in behalf of the reelection of Senator Frank B. Kellogg, competing with an exhausting heat and the prospect of a horse race he was booed down and never completed his speech. Yesterday sixty thousand people jammed the fairground and, oblivious to a howling wind and an intermittent rain, cheered the president to the echo throughout a forty-five minute address.

On his way to the fairground, sixteen miles of streets were packed with flag-waving, enthusiastic citizens.

The presidential party is returning to Washington aboard the same Baltimore and Ohio special train that brought them out to St. Paul.

The same group is aboard. In addition to Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg, Senator Lenroot, (Republican of Wisconsin); Secretary to the President, Sanders and the military aid and physician, Colonel S. A. Cheney and Major J. F. Coupal.

Senator Lenroot left the train at Madison, Wis., at 7:20 this morning, where a brief operating stop was made.

The president and his guests boarded their train last night at 9:30 following a public reception in honor of Mr. Coolidge, staged at the state capitol at St. Paul. For an hour the president received personally all those who desired to meet him. It was estimated that 3,000 people filed through the line, with nearly 10,000 disappointed outside.

At Chicago this morning, shortly before noon, the presidential special will switch from the Chicago and Northwestern to the B. and O. railroad, on which the final stretch of the journey will be made.

DRAG WOMAN'S BODY FROM LICKING RIVER

Newark, O., June 9.—The body of an unknown woman, apparently 65 years old, was dragged from the waters of the North Fork of the Licking river here by N. Z. Snelling and A. Ajic, two workmen enroute to their work at the American Bottle Company this morning. The woman was clad only in a thin dress. There are no marks of violence, but Coroner Richards officially stated there is every reason to believe the woman was dead before her body entered the water, an effort being made to determine the extent of an abrasion in the back of the neck.

This, the coroner says, might develop foul play.

NINE KILLED WHEN TRAIN IS DERAILED

ELECTION OF M'CORD MAY DESTROY AKRON SCHOOLS IS BELIEF

Anti-Klan Members of Board Resign After Klansmen Win

Akron, O., June 9.—An impression seemed to prevail in Akron today that the election last night by the board of education of George McCord as superintendent of schools here, may result in a breakdown of the school system of Akron.

McCord is an avowed klansman and was chosen for his new position as such, and by klans members of the board, after a bitter fight. He was ousted as superintendent at Springfield, Ohio, after seven stormy years of office, during which he is said to have demonstrated himself to be a shrewd politician. But his alliances eventually resulted in his dismissal there, after, it is said, he created a great deal of discord in educational circles and elsewhere.

The vote for McCord stood four to three and immediately after his election was announced, Mrs. C. W. Garrett, Mrs. A. Ross Read and H. T. Waller resigned from the board. They had fought consistently to keep the klans out of the school system.

Joseph B. Hazan, a member, made an address in which he defied anyone to prove that the klans had any influence in Akron school affairs, either with him or any others who stood back of McCord. He said Clyde Osborne, of Columbus, grand dragon of Ohio, had nothing to do with the decision of the Akron board, thus answering rumors to the contrary. Hazan is exalted cyclops of Summit County klansmen and was once mentioned for superintendent.

HARRIMANS WANT MANGANESE LEASE

Moscow, June 9.—It was expected here that the representatives of the Harriman interests of New York, would sign a concession agreement tomorrow with the soviet government, which would give the Harriman interests exclusive rights to mine manganese in the Caucasus mountains.

Harriman is said to have agreed to pay $1,000,000 as a guarantee to carry through the concession with an expenditure of $4,000,000 for improvements and to post another million dollars as advance royalties.

AMERICAN PILOTS RESCUED BY SHIP AND ARE NOT HURT

Three Entrants Still Unheard From In Bennett Cup Race

Brussels, Belgium, June 9.—With the remaining American entry reported down in the Atlantic off Brest and her crew safe, aboard the German freighter "Vaterland" and another French balloon safely landed at Anneville, France, word was waited hourly today from three remaining entrants in the Gordon Bennett Cup race.

Pilot Biensime and his aide, M. Ravaine brought their bag down without mishap at Anneville late Monday, according to word today.

Paris, June 9.—The two pilots of the American balloon "Goodyear" one of the two American entries in the international race from Brussels, for the Gordon-Bennett cup were rescued by the German steamship "Vaterland" in the Atlantic off Brest, France, today, according to La Liberte.

The balloon was found floating in the water. The pilot, W. T. Van Orman and his aid, C. K. Wellan, both of Akron, were none the worse for their experience, according to the newspaper. The news reached La Liberte in a wireless direct from the "Vaterland." This ship is not the reconditioned George Washington but a post war German freighter.

Brussels, Belgium, June 9.—Anxiety was beginning to develop today for the safety of the remaining three of the eighteen balloons which started from here Sunday afternoon in the international race for the Gordon-Bennett cup.

It is feared the balloons have been carried to sea.

The Belgian Aero club, promoter of the race, was endeavoring to trace the balloons. The pilots of the missing balloons are all noted for their courage. Members of the aero club said the pilots realized the greatest hazard was that their balloons might be blown out over the Atlantic ocean, but that they hoped a north air current would carry them to England.

If this expected north air current did not appear then, aero club officials said, there was a possibility one or more of the balloons might be forced to the water through lack of gas or ballast.

GENERAL WILLIAM CHAMBERLAINE IS KILLED IN PARIS

War Hero Dies After Taxi Hits Street Car—Will Be Buried In Arlington

Days When Teachers Were Paid $1 A Week Recalled

Centenarian Tells of Hardships of Profession Twenty Years Before Civil War—Early Pupil Tells of Lizards In Schools.

Columbus, O. June 9.—Tales of the early days of Ohio when school teachers were paid a dollar a week, when settlers kept fires constantly burning outside their doors to keep the wolves away and when Indians begged at their doors for corn bread, are recounted by Mrs. Jane Williams, 102 oldest living Ohio school teacher, in a report today to the state education department, prepared by Mrs. Effie M. Wynn, of Kuhlman.

When Mrs. Williams began teaching school in 1840, Martin van Buren was president of the United States, and the civil war was still two decades in the future. She obtained her first certificate at Zaleski, Vinton County when she was eighteen years old, he taught one term there in a little frame schoolhouse, four more in Hickocking County and another term in a log house in Burlington her home. Oiled paper was used for windows in the last schoolhouse. Mrs. Williams still feels she was unjustly treated because her mother kept the money she earned as a teacher, reading arithmetic and geography were the principal studies taught.

Mrs. Williams' father, Nathaniel Fish, an immigrant from England, first settled in "York" state where he helped build what was probably the Erie canal, and then settled at Burlington, Meigs County. Her mother, said, used to drive a wagon alone twice a year to Marietta for flour and once rode horseback to New York state to make settlement on property her husband owned there.

Other tales of early Ohio school days were recounted in the latest issue of the "Better Schools Bulletin" by Mrs. Sara C. Stump of Beloit, who attended school nearly seventy years ago in a log school house within a mile of her present home. The land had not been cleared and trails to and from the school, had been blazed to guide the pupils. The country was infested with snakes, she said, and often lizards could be seen crawling on the schoolhouse walls.

The main requirements for a teaching position in those days, Mrs. Stump said, was the ability to fashion a quill pen.

Ten other persons, reported to have been jointly indicted with De Angelo, are expected to be arraigned today.

Tony De Angelo, the fruit dealer's brother, and Tony's wife, Thelma, were each indicted on charges of violating the Harrison narcotics law. They are now free on a total of $25,000 bond.

William O. Starkes, colored, Huntington, W. Va., pleaded guilty to an indictment charging transportation of an automobile in interstate commerce and was sentenced to serve 18 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

CHINESE THROW MUD AT U. S. SAILORS

Shanghai, June 9.—Mobs of Chinese threw mud today at American blue-jackets stationed at the border settlement to guard foreigners from overt acts by the Chinese on general strike against all foreigners.

Chinese constabulary intervened and drove off the Chinese before the Americans were forced to take action. Ten British river and coast steamers failed to sail last night and this morning because of a walkout of members of the Chinese Seaman's union. The union threatens to call out enough men to tie up all shipping including trans-Pacific and European liners.

Strike agitators are directing their strongest efforts against Japanese and British subjects in an attempt to affect a nationwide boycott of all Japanese and British goods.

Mrs. Haman was the widow of Frank Haman, formerly city marshal here and who, for 13 years, was chief of the Bucyrus fire department. Mrs. Haman lived here nearly 75 years.

DEATH TOLL REACHES EIGHT IN KENTUCKY EXPLOSION TRAGEDY

Unable to Identify Bodies of Six Colored Blast Victims

Sturgis, Ky., June 9.—With the finding of three more bodies early today, the death toll of the explosion—wrecked mine of the Western Kentucky Coal Company increased to eight. Five bodies were discovered late last night. Two white men were identified as William Thomas and Geo. Richardson. The bodies of six negroes were so badly burned and lacerated, identification was impossible.

Nine miners are yet entombed in the mine and little or no hope is held for bringing them out alive.

Entrances numbers three and four were completely wrecked by an explosion of undetermined origin yesterday, burying 23 miners. Six men who were working near the surface were taken out, unharmed while their less fortunate fellows miners at the 500 foot level were imprisoned in a blazing inferno.

The rescue crews are directed by Neil McCann, a veteran of the explosion of eight years ago which wrecked the same mine of the West Kentucky Company and cost sixty two lives.

BELIEVE FLIERS NOW MAKING ATTEMPT TO REACH NORTH CAPE

Relief Could Be Sent To Cape Columbia By Steamer, Is Report

Copenhagen, June 9.—Reports from Oslo today indicated meteorologists and representatives of the Dornier Aeroplane works at Spitzbergen now believe the Amundsen-Ellsworth North Pole fliers are endeavoring to reach Cape Columbia. At that point, relief could be sent to the party by a steamer expedition.

This belief is based on statements by members of the Amundsen expedition still at Spitzbergen, who said Amundsen told them that if he did not return by aeroplane within fourteen days, or was forced to descend, he would make his way to Cape Columbia.

NEW TRACTION CARS WILL BE IN SERVICE

Three new cars will be placed in operation on The Springfield and Xenia Traction Company lines about July 1, according to information given by Charles E. Serviss, superintendent of the S. and X. road. The cars will be of the latest traction car type and may be operated with one or two man crews. RUSSELL EXPECTED TO KNOW FATE SOON

Cleveland, O., June 9.—Joshua E. Russell, former national prohibition director of Ohio; Merle B. Copeland, his former chief clerk, and Warren E. Barnett, Columbus, lawyer, charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law through the alleged release of 22,500 gallons of whiskey from the Hayner distillery at Troy and its diversion to bootleggers probably will know their fate today.

District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen was to make his closing argument this morning. Following Bernsteen's argument, Judge D. C. Westenhaver was to deliver the charge of the law to the jury, and both prosecution and defense looked for a speedy verdict. The case, which has attracted nationwide attention, has been on trial since a week ago Monday.

PARK BOARD WANTS
PLEDGES PAID TO AID COMPLETION

In view of the advanced state of development of the lagoon at the new park of the Xenia Recreation Association in the Dodds Addition, it was the consensus of opinion at a meeting of the officers and board of directors of the organization, Monday noon at the City Hall that steps should be taken for the collection of funds pledged in the recent financial drive to aid in the development.

Approximately $1,400 pledged in the drive remains unpaid and its collection will stimulate work at the park and enable preliminary work to be completed, it is believed. Between $500 and $600 has been pledged from other sources which will also be available to help finance work in the tract, it is said.

Work on the lagoon has been progressing rapidly with the existing funds and with the aid of additional pledges which will be collected, the lagoon is expected to take definite form this summer.

Preliminary development work has been concentrated on the lagoon which will be the foundation and beauty spot of the park.

The plaintiff claims to have made a written contract with the defendant July 8, 1918 conveying certain real estate located at Milford Center, Union County, O., with the provision that the defendant would furnish the plaintiff with a home for the rest of his life.

The defendant now refuses the plaintiff a home and threatens to sell the property, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks damages and that the defendant be enjoined from selling the property. Marshall and Marshall are attorneys for the plaintiff.

hibition a success, in an address at Trinity M. E. Church, Sunday morning.

Prohibition can't be called a failure, and it cannot be a success until the stills and bootleggers are gotten rid of and the man given to drink either exterminated or educated otherwise, he said.

More than 600 law violators have been arrested, convicted, sentenced or fined in Marion within the past eighteen months, the Rev. Mr. Buckley said. Machines of the law violators have been confiscated and the arrested persons fined from $500 to $700, in addition, according to their case, he said.

R. H. Kingsbury, this city, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop No. 1, designed the cover page for the June edition of the Toledo Scout, a Toledo publication. The design portrays the summer activities for 1925 at Camp Miakonda, located at the DeVilbiss Scout Reservation near Sylvania, O., eight miles from Toledo.

The design is Indian throughout and in sketching form the many advantages of the camp are shown including camp fire, bathing, athletic, fishing and canoeing facilities.

The issue also contains the picture of Leigh M. Nisbet, this city, former Xenia Scoutmaster who holds the position of field executive of the Maumee Valley Area Council.

Mr. Nisbet is always interested in boy organizations but is principally interested in Scout activities. He entered Scouting as a tenderfoot in Xenia reaching the rank of commissioner during his ten year's of service. He is an Eagle Scout and holds the honor medal for life saving.

Nisbet served during the late war as a lieutenant of infantry and now ranks as First Lieutenant, 321st Cavalry Regiment (Reserve). Although most of his time will be spent this summer in the area surrounding Toledo in the capacity of personnel officer, he will instruct a class in fencing at Camp Miakonda, it was announced.

EXCHANGE SEAT
(1895) $33,000

EXCHANGE SEAT
(1925) $108,000

WHY? 1925

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange sold for $108,000 recently. Thirty years ago the high record was $33,000. Why should the price triple?

The New York Stock Exchange still has the same number of members that it had thirty years ago, namely 1,100, yet in the last twenty years the number of securities traded in on the exchange has multiplied about three times over, and the value of those securities, which now stands at about $6,000,000,000 has doubled.

None but these 1,100 members can actually execute buying and selling orders on the exchange. From the above figures it is evident that the demand for their service must have increased about threefold. In that case the income from commissions should increase proportionally too, which of course is the main reason for the threefold advance of the price of seats.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

THE SOLUTION SOUGHT

THE increase in the number of juvenile offenders is a condition which is causing much concern. The situation has been ascribed to the decline in moral and religious teaching in the home. In order to supply through outside influences what should be the work of the parents, or guardians, various suggestions have been put into practice. In some places a portion of the school day has been taken in order that pupils might have instruction in the faith to which they incline. Yet, the adoption of this plan would not prevent the inculcation of moral principles as a part of the school curriculum. It is the moral code common to all religions against which the juveniles offend.

If the premise on which the deduction is based is correct, and parents are failing to train their children to walk in the paths of probity, can the school, or the church, entirely supply all that is needed? The principles which govern a child's life and, later the adult life, are inculcated at the mother's knee. If the mother fails in her duty and the father does not provide both precept and example, a burden is thrown on the school and the church that is more than either ought to bear. The church and the school ought to supplement the home teaching, but it is too much to expect these to supply what should be the home work.

If the numbers of juvenile offenders are chargeable to the failures of parents the parents need to be taught along with the children. This presents a difficult problem, one for which a solution may not be reached. Yet, without parents of the right kind how can it be hoped to have children become an honor? The question is not wholly one of religion, though that enters. It is chiefly one of ethics. If youth can be shown that any course other than the right is unprofitable, doing right because it is right may follow as the course of action.

Turning boys and girls of this generation toward the right may not materially better the parents of this generation but the achievement would provide more good parents for the next generation. How this end is to be gained is the question that is being asked and for which a solution is sought.

A MATTER OF COURTESY

THE present lack of good manners in motoring calls for a code of ethics to be observed by automobile drivers, is the belief of the Connecticut Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Want of courtesy may be in evidence on the part of some drivers, but, if so, it is not because they are driving motor cars. They are exemplifying their natural dispositions. One who is imbued with regard for the rights and comforts of others does not need a written code of ethics. Another who would be benefited by some instruction is likely to be reluctant to accept the precepts.

There are those who in their actions are governed only by the judgment of what they may be "able to get away with" but this attitude is by no means confined to motor car drivers. It is said that greater courtesy would do much to prevent accidents. It would, doubtless, but how to enforce courtesy is the problem. It is contended that the way one drives provides a medium of expression of one's personality. The way one on foot shoves his way through the crowd speaks not less forcibly.

A good driver is defined as one with altruistic instincts, ready to see and appreciate the problems of others, to make proper allowance for them and to exercise a little more patience, care and consideration than is actually called for. If one is actuated by these motives and exemplifies them one will be a manly man—or womanly woman—even though not an automobile driver.

The Connecticut vehicle commissioner is concerned with motor car drivers but what he really asks is that men be gentlemen and if they are that there will be no need of a code of ethics when they drive out on the road. They will practice the code instinctively. If some have no sense of courtesy it would be difficult to enforce a code even though it be written. Such would incline to disregard it, when it could be done safely and with some promise of profit or amusement.

LIFE'S ALL

A little patch of sunshine.
And a little patch of blue.
The songbirds gayly singing.
A lit for me and you;
The sound of childish laughter
Near many a happy door.
Here's all that makes for gladness.
The world can give no more.
A few bright blossoms nodding
To greet the morning sun.
A task that will reward us
With pride when it is done;
A friend or two to follow
Our fortunes, good or ill.
No more than this we'll harvest
Howe'er the purse we fill.
The trust of those who know us,
The love of all our own.
A night of rest unbroken,
No cross to bear alone;
The strength for tasks before us,
High faith when sorrows fall;
No more the world can give us.

With these we have it all.
So guard the home you cherish
And love your patch of ground.
Keep faith with all who trust you
For when life's depths you sound,
You'll find that peace at evening,
However long you live,
And love of friends and neighbors
Is all that life can give.

A. E.: "How shall I clean a wool flannel dress—just wash it in soap suds?"

Answer: Wash it in a basin of gas oil, out of doors (not ear heat or flame, as gasoline is extremely inflammable.) Soak it up and down, of course using no soap, then rinse in another basin of clean gasoline and hang on line for several days, till the odor is evaporated. Press. There will be no shrinkage if done in this way.

Mrs. T. L. B.: I wonder if you or any of your readers can give me a recipe for fish cooked in the Italian style and called "Choppino"?

Answer: I do not happen to have this recipe, but perhaps some kind reader who has, will write it on a postcard and mail it to me in case of this paper for publication?

Married Two Years: "Last spring I put down eggs in water glass, but when I came to take them out, months later, and tried to boil them for breakfast, I found they generally broke. Why? And can it be avoided? My husband likes them boiled best of all ways."

Answer: You should have pricked each egg with a pin or needle in the large end before putting it in the hot water to boil. For the pores of the shell are sealed by the preserving solution and the egg will therefore crack unless pricked.

E. B.: "What will keep patent leather shoes from cracking?"

Answer: Keep them in a fairly warm place, and oil them occasionally or rub a little white vaseline on the surface. For patent leather, like all leathers, needs oiling now and then to keep it pliant.

Mrs. H.: "Can varnish and paint remover be made at home?"

Answer: Home Made Varnish and Paint Remover: Ordinary washing soda is an excellent remover; dissolve one pound of it in from five to six quarts of boiling water and apply. Or you can use potash instead if you wish as follows: Dissolve one pound of potash in six quarts of cold water and apply. Ammonia, in full strength, is another paint and varnish remover. Always

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have ever known. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend."

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait until today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., R. A. 44, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

MOTHERS OF DAUGHTERS

Will Profit by Reading Mrs. Quigg's Letter Telling How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Daughter

Royersford, Pa.—"My daughter was sickly from the time she was 13 years old, and when she was 15 she was irregular and also had severe headaches and pains in her sides and back. She was this way about six months before I began giving her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly, although she had tried it before. It helped her very much. She is not bothered by headaches, backaches, or cramping any more, and has not missed but one day. We recommend it to other mothers with girls who have these troubles."—Mrs. QUIGG, 210 Main St., Royersford, Pa.

Another Mother's Letter

Roxbury, Mass.—"At the age of 16 my daughter was all run down, nervous, with poor blood. These troubles made her weak and unfit to work. She tried several medicines, but they did her no good. Finally I induced her to take the Vegetable Compound, too, and she has gained in health and strength and is now working steadily. I have told these facts to many mothers, and I hope this letter will reach many more."—Mrs. HUDSON, 252 Eustis Street, Roxbury, Mass.

Today's Talks

CHRISTIAN STYLE

For 2,000 years Jesus has remained Jesus. That is the conclusion to which I have come. And of course, it is obvious anyway.

But when I read of the bitter words hurled toward lovely characters who take opposite views to those believed by someone else, I am saddened at the distance traveled away from the Gentle Teacher whose sum total of religion has lived throughout the ages, borne by but two words—love and service.

When you try to put Jesus in "style" you lose Him.

Jesus never played up to anyone. He played right into people. He gave and gave—and then He gave again.

The common people heard Him gladly because they were not encumbered with gaudiness or style or up-to-date-ness. They were thirsty, hungry, and lonely for the sunlight of beauty and happiness in their hearts—so they sought Him out, ministered unto Him and gladly served.

The sweetness and beauty of character that was Jesus' will never run out of style any more than will the rays of the sun or the breath of the flowers.

What did Jesus care about "the past" of anybody's life? In His own words, He said that He came to "seek and to save that which was lost". In other words He said that the well needed no physician. As a shepherd He would hunt all night for the sheep that had lost its way. The one religion that Jesus started of love and service is and always will be big enough for the greatest problems of life.

When you complicate love and service you destroy their worth and influence.

If Jesus was sad I do not believe He was sad because of Himself or of the fate that He knew awaited Him at the cross, but because there were so many all about Him who doubted and who failed to understand.

It is refreshing to feel in this age of combat and irreligion, that the calm and peaceful figure of Jesus of Nazareth grows greatest in inspiration and helpfulness as the world seeks to doubt Him most.

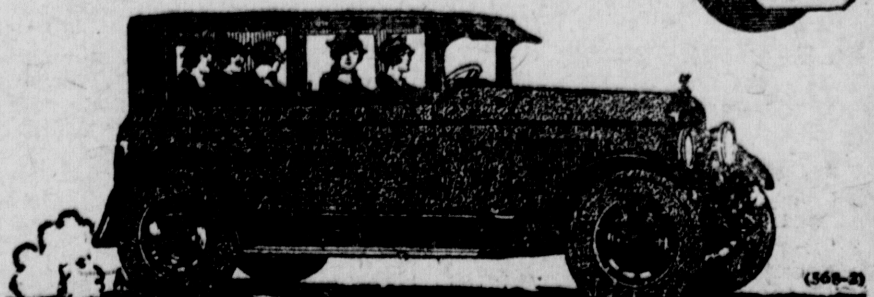

And it must always be remembered that it takes heart, not mind, to come to a full realization of His value in sweetness and fineness in all the affairs of daily life.

Just think of Jesus and the thing He stood for—love and service—and you have enough to guide you on and up.

MODISH MITZI—The Preliminaries To A Successful Wedding By JAY V. JAY

This is going to be a rehearsal of the gown—not the ceremony. Marian has selected Mitzi and Polly her dearest friends and severest critics, to view her wedding gown at its final fitting. Mitzi wears a coat with the position cape outlined with stitchery—

very smart. Marian wears a black satin dress in the new bolero effect. The skirt is very full in back and has a tie sash. Polly who is lingering in the rear wears a very charming little hat of straw and velvet combined.

Madame Celeste, the very capable modiste, who understands brides, wedding gowns and the most obscure points of the mode is gesticulating in admiration. The lace, so delicate, so rich must be the only trimming. It hangs from the shoulder and is caught at the waist with a pearl cabochon.

"And the veil, regard the veil," ripples on Madame. "It is so soft, so simple, with but a single hair of two showing." That is the way it should be. Mitzi and Polly, still the dearest friends and most severe of fashion critics, agree with her—right to the last orange blossom.

OSBORN ADDRESSES KLANSMEN AT MEET AT TEMPLE MONDAY

Between 1,000 and 1,200 members of the Ku Klux Klan in Greene County and surrounding counties attended a meeting at the Klan Tabernacle, East Third Street Monday night and heard Clyde W. Osborn, Columbus grand dragon of the Ohio order, deliver a talk.

That the "public must realize that the America of tomorrow can be no stronger or finer than the moral fibre of the American of tomorrow and to that end the Klan stands against those influences that tend to debauch the minds and morals of the youth of today," was the central thought expressed by Osborn in his address.

"The commercialism of evil in America must be stopped and the moral standards of our forefathers must be restored," declared the speaker. "We are a militant organization that stands against the standard breaker. There is no hatred in our hearts against Catholics, Jews and Negroes, however, we stand for Protestant ideals."

"We ask quality rather than quantity in membership," said Osborn. "Some of the methods of the past are however, to be frowned upon," he admitted.

The more than 1,000 members of the order who attended the meeting were principally from Greene County although visiting delegations from other cities were present. A downpour of rain during the afternoon kept the attendance down.

Osborn was accompanied to Xenia by J. H. Downs, of Columbus, his chief representative who is on his official staff.

J. A. Downey, of Piqua, great titan and head of Province No. 6, headed the Piqua delegation and gave a short talk during the program. The program included music by the Klan band and singing by a quartet.

BELLEFONTAINE TO PLAY XENIA GOLFERS

Golfers of the Xenia Country Club will play hosts to representatives of the Bellefontaine Golf Club in a Dayton District Golf Association match over the local course one day this week.

Final arrangements for the match have not been completed and it is not certain whether the match will be played on the usual afternoon, Wednesday, or later in the week.

Xenia has won three points out of a possible twelve in association matches so far this season with more experienced Dayton clubs as opponents, but is expected to take four markers from its Bellefontaine opponents and climb to a higher position in the league.

The four local golfers who will represent the local club in each division of play, will be named at a later date, it is announced.

GUARANTORS FOR CHAUTAUQUA MEET

Chautauqua guarantors will meet at the City Hall Friday evening. It was announced Tuesday by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, who is urging all to be present.

Paul J. Harris, representative of the Redpath Chautauqua will be present at the meeting and confer with the guarantors on further plans.

The Chautauqua will be held in Xenia, beginning Sunday, July 12, and continue through Saturday evening of that week. It is probable that the tent will be pitched in the land owned by P. H. Flynn, along Detroit Boulevard. A union church meeting will be held the first Sunday evening.

FIND LIQUOR

Two cases of home brew were confiscated by authorities in a raid on the residence of Pete Pratt, West Main Street, Saturday night. Pratt was arrested and will be probably arraigned either Tuesday or Wednesday on a charge of possessing liquor. He was released under $500 bond. Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, Patrolman Charles Thompson and John Powell, a state prohibition officer, comprised the raiding party.

SERVICE ARRANGED

Funeral services for Martin Hornick, formerly of Xenia, who died Sunday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Dayton, will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at Corpus Christi Church, Dayton. Interment will be in St. Brigid's Cemetery here.

FINGERPRINTING IS EXPLAINED TO CLUB MEETING BY EXPERT

R. I. Miles, for fourteen years superintendent of the Bureau of Identification of the Ohio State Prison, and now connected with the National Detective Bureau at Columbus, addressed the Xenia Rotary Club, Tuesday noon at the Elks' Lodge, on "The Value of Fingerprints."

He explained the different classifications of fingerprints and told how photographs of the prints are made and their records kept. All the prints are filed in Washington, D. C., and it takes on an average of six minutes to locate a print for comparison. Two fingerprints, exactly alike, have never been found, he said, and as high as eighty characteristics in one fingerprint have been found.

Mr. Miles said: "Since the fact has been established that there are no two other human beings exactly alike and no change from birth to death except in their external appearance from growth or decay in their natural lifetime, is sufficient proof that the identification cannot be questioned."

"A crime has been committed there is no way of establishing the guilt or the identity of the guilty party or parties other than the fingerprint system, except he is detected in the act or found with stolen loot in his possession. When a crime is committed, the criminal in most cases leaves his fingerprints on some object, such as wood, metal, or glass. As the human body is constantly exuding a moisture, commonly called perspiration, through the tiny glands or pores of the cuticle, this is of the appearance of oil when closely observed on the subject where found."

"These impressions can be photographed after they have been dusted with a powder used for the purpose, the particular color, white black, or gray, the most suitable being used to produce a contrast for the camera, after which they can be developed and search of files made."

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Davis are planning to leave Wednesday morning for Oberlin, O., to attend the ninety-second annual commencement exercises of the college. The commencement play will be given Thursday evening, in which their daughter, Miss Margaret, has the leading role. The commencement exercises and conferring of degrees will take place Monday, June 15.

Girls Fail as Crusoes

HAZEL CARR and MINNIE EDMONDSON

After making a wager that they could stay on an uninhabited island for a week, subsisting on tropical fruits, Hazel Carr and Minnie Edmondson, of Miami, remained only two days. Their excuse was that they had forgotten their vanity cases and just couldn't be without them.

ment commencement play will be given Thursday evening, in which their daughter, Miss Margaret, has the leading role. The commencement exercises and conferring of degrees will take place Monday, June 15.

The Hon. Newton D. Baker, L. L. D., former secretary of war, will deliver the class address. Miss Davis will be graduated from the College of Arts and Sciences.

CROWDS VISIT POOL AT OPENING MONDAY

The heavy storm that noticeably cooled the atmosphere Monday afternoon, did not dampen the spirits of hundreds of bathers who spent the evening at the new Wilson Swimming Pool, West Church Street.

The intense humidity of the past several days caused the plan for the opening of the pool to be changed from Wednesday to Monday and the invitation was accepted by a large crowd of bathers.

Between 300 and 400 bathers were in the pool between 7 o'clock and the hour of closing. Besides the large number of swimmers, crowds of bystanders watched the water sports during the evening.

Preceding the storm in the afternoon, a large number of bathers crowded in the pool. Grandstands for on-lookers and the refreshment stand close by are other attractive features of the pool.

The formal program previously announced for the opening of the pool will be carried out Wednesday.

ROTARY WILL VISIT SHAWANOEESE PARK

The Xenia Rotary Club will hold an informal meeting in the new city park, in the Dodds Addition, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. All Rotarians are urged to be present.

The meeting was decided on at an informal discussion following the luncheon and program of the weekly meeting at the Elks' Lodge, Tuesday noon. Park officials will tell of the work that has been done at the park the past few months. Committees from the Rotary Club will be appointed to assist in financing the work planned for the summer.

Club members with automobiles may drive around the park site.

MINERS KILLED

Tokio, June 9.—Ten miners are reported dead, following an explosion in a coal mine in Moshiri, Hokkaido prefecture, according to advices here today. Hokkaido prefecture is on Yezo Island, north of the main island of Nippon.

SUNDAY CLOSING IS BACK AT STANDSTILL

The Sunday closing law controversy was back again in its accustomed position Tuesday—at a standstill.

Prosecutor J. C. Marshall received a list of business houses in Xenia and Greene County who openly violated the Sunday closing law from Attorney F. L. Johnson with a veiled demand for prosecution but refused to deviate from his reticent attitude Tuesday and say whether he would prosecute on the information he has received.

The prosecutor had no comment whatever to make.

Attorney Johnson, who is making efforts on behalf of certain clients to have the Sunday closing law enforced in Greene County, declared Tuesday "there is nothing new," and gave no indication what the next move in the war will be.

FORMER XENIAN'S BRIDE OF COMING WEEK FETED

The wedding ceremony will be performed at 7 o'clock in the garden at the home of the bride's parents, in West Milton, with the Rev. Hugh Evans of Dayton, officiating.

South Side W. C. T. U., will meet Friday afternoon, June 12 at 1 o'clock, slow time at the home of Mrs. John Fudge on the Union Road. The meeting was to have been held Thursday and members are asked to note the change of day.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander left Monday for Chicago to join her mother, Mrs. Leon Spahr, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Philip Frueh. Mrs. Spahr left a week ago, going to Toledo for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall, before going to Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. John E. Wishart, of San Anselmo, Calif., have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. B. R. McClellan, South Detroit Street. Dr. Wishart, who was formerly connected with the Xenia Seminary, when it was located in Xenia, has gone on to Pittsburgh to fill the pulpit of his brother, Dr. W. I. Wishart, who is abroad. Mrs. Wishart will remain here for an indefinite time, visiting for Monday, June 15, and the Misses Greene County relatives.

ADAIR'S Good Taste Without Extravagance

is the keynote of the phenomenal success of our big furniture store. Our low prices have attracted customers from the surrounding cities. We now depend for our success on out of town business as much as on local trade. The explanation is that our expenses are extremely low and having been in the furniture business for the past 40 years we know where to buy furniture of good taste and construction and at the same time reasonable in price.

GOOD WILL DEFINITE ASSET BABSON SAYS DISCUSSING BRANDS

Babson Park, Mass., June 9, 1925.—In view of the controversy which has arisen over the value of good will in connection with the sale of Dodge Brothers, Roger W. Babson has been asked his opinion on the subject. Mr. Babson has felt that this was largely a fight between definite Wall Street factions and has endeavored to keep out of it, but he today consented to give his opinion on the general subject of trade mark and good will values. Mr. Babson's statement is as follows:

"Many people wonder how it is that American Sugar stocks can be going down while American Tobacco stocks are climbing upward. At first thought this seems to be a paradox. Both companies are well established and both are handling an article of general consumption, and, if anything, sugar is certainly more of a necessity than tobacco. Both are the largest producers in their respective fields; therefore, at first sight, there seems no logical reason for sugar stocks to be tumbling while tobacco stocks are climbing upward. There is, however, a fundamental difference between these two securities. Sugar is bought in bulk by the pound without reference as to who manufactures it while tobacco is bought in cans and packages and bought by the brand. That is to say, the sugar business is a non-brand business and the tobacco business is a brand business, and from the keen investor's point of view there is as much difference between the two as between night and day. When anyone buys sugar he simply asks for 'sugar' and pays no attention to the brand. But when one asks for tobacco he calls for some specific brand. Doubtless the sugar people see this difference and hence are endeavoring to establish trade names for cube and powdered sugars.

"I do not wish to get involved one way or another in the merits of the Dodge Brothers sale. It would be wrong for me or anyone else, to give an opinion on a specific case like this without a thorough knowledge of all the circumstances. My hunch is that Dodge Brothers securities will sell for less before they reach their natural level. But I do believe that their good will, to which the Michigan authorities have taken exception, is a very valuable asset. Furthermore I believe that bankers who are criticizing the Dodge Brothers securities would far rather, at the same price, have the name and good will without any real estate, buildings, machinery, or other tangible assets, than to have all these tangible assets without the name and good will. Brands, trade marks, and good will are the most valuable kinds of assets. The difficulty with them is that their value can be more easily destroyed than the value of tangible property. The concern which has the most valuable brands is like a man carrying a pan of molten gold over a rough mountain pass; with the least tipping of the pan one way or the other some of the gold is apt to run out, and if he should stumble all would be lost. It is an old saying that 'the higher up in the tree a bird builds her nest the easier it is for the nest to be robbed.' Hence, the most valuable brands must be protected most carefully, both from outside pirates and from short-sighted men in the management who are neglecting the quality or reducing advertising appropriations simply to secure immediate profits. I cannot speak too highly of the value of trade marks, brands, and other forms of good will but I must at the same time say that they can be very easily ruined.

"Farmers often wonder why it is that their sale of oats will be declining while the sale of 'Quaker Oats' in boxes will be increasing. Certain oil companies which sell only crude oil are today in financial difficulties while other oil companies which have valuable brands are still doing a fine business. Shredded Wheat sells just the same whatever the wheat market; Poland water is always in demand whether it is raining or shining; and Ivory soap is still being used by the great grandchildren of mothers who bought it when it first began to advertise. All of this means that brands and trade marks, when properly developed and protected seem to prosper irrespective of business conditions, variations in customs, and even changes in management. Brands outlive the lives of their founders, and when properly cared for are like rivers that run on forever. Once I was called to Washington in connection with a trust investigation. The Government was endeavoring to break up a great monopoly depending, not upon trade agreements, but rather on a brand which was a household word in every community. Because of this the Government was powerless to touch them. I returned to advise my clients to spend their money on national advertising which would build up a monopoly which no government could touch rather than spend it upon lawyers to create a structure which any politician could break down.

"I don't want these comments to be interpreted as a defense of the Dodge Brothers transaction, but I do wish to impress upon every business man especially the manufacturer and jobber the necessity and importance of protecting brands, trade marks and the like. However small a manufacturer may be it is very important that he should have some brand or trade mark which can be used on all his advertising, letter heads, bill heads and everything else which he puts out. I also wish to impress upon local bankers that they give more attention to the value of good will in connection with granting credit to manufacturers and merchants. I therefore urge investors not to give all their weight to good will, or all their weight to tangible assets, but to intelligently weigh both. This is especially important in days like these when business is wavering along the middle path and the Babsonchart registers 2 per cent below normal.

Charlie Ross?

DANIEL PETERS.

Daniel Peters, a farmer of Longtown, Pa., is convinced, he has told authorities, that he is Charles Brewster Ross, whose mysterious kidnapping in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1874 proved to be one of the most sensational crimes of history. Interest in the kidnapping is still alive, after fifty years, throughout the world. Peters bases his claim upon the deathbed confession to him of the woman he had believed was his mother.

LIFE SAVING EXPERT OF AMERICAN RED CROSS GIVES SWIMMING POINTS

Editor's Note—This is the fifth of the series of twelve articles which aim toward lessening water fatalities during the swimming period. The sixth will appear soon.

LESSON FIVE
FINDING DROWNED PERSON
QUICKLY ESSENTIAL
By Commodore W. E. Longfellow
Life Saving Expert, American Red Cross

(Written for I. N. S.)
There is a marked reluctance on the part of the ordinary swimmers to dive for the body of a person just gone to the bottom. There is a vague sort of superstition against touching a dead person or a fear that he may grip the rescuer.

Much effort of divers is wasted because they go about it half-heartedly. Another factor working against effective recovery by surface diving is the difficulty most swimmers, unless they have specialized in this type of rescue have in going more than six feet below the surface.

We will start with the knowledge that a drowned person is harmless after being under a couple of minutes especially if he has used up his strength fighting to stay up. Quick action is necessary.

ESTIMATE TIDE
First secure a range on shore objects on a line with the place where the drowning person was last seen and estimate the drift of the tide and current. When the water is less than twenty feet deep there is a chance of rescue. Every swimmer should perfect himself in surface diving. A good swimming start on the surface of the water is helpful in descending to a considerable depth.

Take a few breast strokes to reach the spot where the person is thought to be, then tuck the chin close to the chest as you sweep the hands in a circular motion from the front to a position alongside the hips, with hands palm down in the water. By pushing down in the water, first bending the body and then straightening it, as in the jackknife dive, keeping the legs straight and together, the weight of the legs in the air will force the head and body straight toward bottom.

SHORT BREAST STROKES.

Keep the chin against the chest while you continue downward. The moment you throw the head back the body will commence to ascend—the head acting like the diving rudder of a submarine. Take short breast strokes with the arms until the bottom is reached, then grasp, with both hands, the person to be recovered, plant both feet on the bottom and push off. You will come up easily. The body can be carried easily on the upper hip in the side stroke.

If you spend your vacation in a place where the water averages 12 feet or more in depth, see that proper grasping up a body the first cast after place where they can be used in recovering a body in time for resuscitation. So much time can be wasted in fruitless attempts to get to bottom. Oftentimes the grappling hooks will bring up a body he first cast after divers have tried for hours to locate it. A full description of how to make a grappling hook can be found in Red Cross pamphlet No. 100 procurable from any Red Cross chapter office. There is comparatively little danger that the hook will hurt the body sufficiently to prevent effective resuscitation.

"NOT POSSIBLE TO CLASSIFY" BY MACK SAUER

Well, S. O. Haje, who once upon a time taught the Bellbrook school stopped at the Hammer Club yesterday for a time and arithmetic came up for discussion. Do you remember some of these old ones?

1. A man's beard grows 1-4 of an inch a day. Growing at that rate, how long will it be before his beard reaches from Xenia to San Francisco? What will it be worth at three cents a pound?

2. A man went to jail to visit a prisoner. When asked if he was a relative of the prisoner, he replied: "Brothers and sisters have I none, but this man's father is my father's son." What relation was he to the prisoner?

3. If there are three miles in one league, how many feet are there in an Epworth League? If there are six feet in a fathom, how many fathoms are there to a thousand legged worm?

4. A young man was driving his father's car over the Dayton pike at 60 miles per hour. A train was coming down the line at the rate of 70 miles per hour. They met. When will the funeral be held?

5. A man with a fox a goose and some corn wishes to cross the river at Oldtown. He can only take one of the articles at once. If he takes the fox, the goose will eat the corn, while he is gone. If he takes the corn, the fox will eat the goose. If he takes the goose, the next trip will mean disaster for either the corn or the goose. How does he get away with it?

6. John Jones divides his estate equally among two sons and three daughters, the latter sharing equally with each other. The younger son receives three shares of Dollars stock, the other son gets a safety razor, and the daughters each get a book of orations by William Jennings Bryan on evolution. What is the value of the estate? Answer-0.

CITY BUYS TRACT OF LAND NEAR OLD TOWN TO PROTECT WATER

The city of Xenia, through the City Commission, has completed the purchase of a fraction of an acre of land on the west side of the Xenia and Springfield Pike near Old Town from John DeWine, president of The Wine Milling Company, for a consideration of $1,100. It is announced.

The purchase gives the city a narrow strip of land extending along Massies Creek and the old mill stream bordering the holdings of the city near Old Town.

The City Commission authorized the purchase of the small strip of land for better protection of the levees, wills and grounds, the site of the city waterworks, against possible floods and damage by water.

The transaction includes the taking over of a cottage which was erected on the tract, and which may be remodeled and made over into a cottage for the engineer in the future.

Mr. DeWine still retains the site of the old company plant which recently was destroyed by fire and a large tract of land adjoining to the north, which may be used as a site of a large summer resort and recreational center, it is said.

Kidney Sufferers

Physicians have long known a remarkably effective remedy for weak bladder and overworked kidneys—a wonderful oil imported from Holland which heals and tones up the irritated organs and banishes frequent calls, tired feeling, backaches, rheumatic pains, etc., often within 24 hours. This remarkable oil has at last been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules, under the name of Red Mill Bladder Oil. It costs only 50c and relief is guaranteed or money back. Ask these druggists: Sayre and Hemphill, Sch's Drug Store.

New Remedy Banishes

BAD BREATH

Tens of thousands of men and women have what is commonly called bad breath and don't realize it.

The remedy that will correct this trouble speedily is the new powerful yet pleasant antiseptic Kojene.

Kojene is four times more powerful as an antiseptic than carbolic acid yet one can drink it without harm.

Get a six-ounce bottle at Sayre and Hemphill or any modern drug store for only 60 cents. For bad breath gargle night and morning, using one teaspoonful of Kojene to a half glass of water. Adv.

Says H's Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allen's, to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed Sch's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to dispense Allen's with the understanding that if his prescription does not banish every sign and symptom of the disease he will gladly return your money without comment. BRINGING UP FATHER

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER LXIV

Aunt Mary appeared to sympathize with Michael and Lilah. She looked upon Lilah's mother as an intruder in the honeymoon, but not herself.

"These mothers-in-law!" she exclaimed to Michael, flinging her hands up in the air, while Lilah was in the house preparing to go to the station with them to meet mother Pharley. "You can thank your stars that you only have one. Think of the poor Turks, who have harems, and how they are burdened with mothers-in-law. Fifty wives, fifty mothers-in-law!"

To Michael there was something intoxicating about Aunt Mary; he was ever delighted with her. He tried to imagine what Mr. Owingsby must have been like, and he wondered what sort of daughters Aunt Mary would have had if she had been blessed, or plagued, with any. He decided she herself would have been an ideal type of mother-in-law. He watched the meeting between Aunt Mary and Lilah's mother.

Mother Pharley gushed over him as if he were a long lost child. "Why, Michael, how well you are looking! How are you? I'll bet have been taking good care of my you two have been having a perfectly wonderful time. I know you baby."

As they drove over the long route from the railway station to Beverly Hills, he could hear Lilah and her mother, who occupied the back seat, whispering.

Michael's hope that Aunt Mary would not mention her offer to him before Mother Pharley was blasted that evening at dinner.

"Why I think that would be perfectly lovely," the latter cried, when she heard about it. "Why, it's almost too good to be true! And what are you two going to do about it, daughter?"

Michael bit his lips as Mother Pharley directed the question to Lilah. "Such things are up to Michael, mother. You should know that," Her tone was sharp.

Aunt Mary coolly regarded mother and daughter, and a light of understanding came into her eyes.

"How about it, Michael?" Mother Pharley pressed. "I haven't decided," he said firmly. "However, I don't believe it will be convenient for me to accept, however much I would like to."

"Well, that's too bad. It would be splendid for you two children. It's up to them, Martha," Mrs. Pharley turned her eyes sharply upon her sister-in-law. She hated to be called Martha.

"It's too bad father couldn't come," Lilah observed, hoping to shift the conversation into other channels.

"I tried to get him to come," her mother explained, "but he wouldn't. He's looking up some old friends of his in Sacramento. Besides," she laughed, "he told me I was an old fool to butt in on you two." She winked.

Aunt Mary smiled at her brother's wife's brazenness, then regarded her youthful guests with sympathy. She decided to rid them of Mother Pharley's presence for one evening, anyway.

"There's an old friend of yours here that I know you will be glad to see," she said, addressing herself to the older woman, "Jessie Golden."

"Jessie Golden! Is she out here? Well, well! Yes, I would like to see Jessie. Perhaps Lilah would like to see Mrs. Golden, too. You remember Mrs. Golden, don't you, Lilah?" he used to think you were such a pretty little girl when you were small. She gave you the big waxen doll, you remember."

Lilah restrained even the slightest display of interest. "Aw, these young ones don't care anything about such old hens as Jessie Golden. We'll go see her. You run along, children. Shoo!"

Thus she delivered them from Mother Pharley for the evening. But there was tomorrow. (To be continued.)

AUDITOR WILL NOT OBJECT TO ISSUING AUTO LICENSE TAGS

R. O. Wead, auditor of Greene County, says the county will comply with the Lipp act, passed by the General Assembly, providing for the distribution of motor car license tags from the county auditor's office.

Many auditors have indicated a disposition to refuse to issue the tags, one even going so far as to advise the secretary of state to that effect.

Auditor Wead said however that he would notify Thad H. Brown, secretary of state that assistance in issuing the tags in Greene County would be necessary and seek authorization for the appointment of a number of deputies to aid the auditor's office over the county.

A fee of fifteen cents is allotted the county for each set of tags distributed but this amount would go to the deputies who aid in the distribution as well as the county to cover expense.

The county auditor's office will commence the distribution of the 1925 tags in July taking over the duties of the Greene County Automobile Club, which heretofore issued the plates. The auto club may continue, however, to distribute some of the tags, it was pointed out by Auditor Wead.

JUDGMENT IN NOTE CASE IS AFFIRMED

A Common Pleas Court verdict awarding Duff Stewart $150 alleged due on a promissory note against Charles Zimmer and others, has been affirmed in the Court of Appeals.

Stewart brought action in Justice of the Peace Court against Zimmer for $176 alleged due on a promissory note. The defendants in the lower court filed an answer and cross petition claiming that the note sued on was given as a consideration for a span of mules purchased at public auction. The counter-claim or cross petition set out certain misrepresentations as to the mules claiming damages for $250.

Stewart obtained a magistrate's verdict for $150 which was affirmed in Common Pleas Court.
